

White Sox 4, Tigers 3

Kreevich, Hoag Get Doubles in 8th for Victory

Chicago, May 10--With Dizzy Trout on the mound, after Harold Newhouser had been lifted for a pinch hitter, Mike Kreevich and Myril Hoag, in the eighth inning, put together a pair of successive two-base hits for the winning run and the White Sox's defeated the Tigers 4 to 3 here today in the first game of the series.

A small turnout of 3,323 customers, including Lord Halifax, the British ambassador to the United States, braved cold weather to see the contest. It was the first game of baseball the ambassador had ever seen.

By their victory the White Sox broke a losing streak that had reached four games and took undisputed charge of fourth place in the standings, dropping the Tigers to fifth place.

For seven innings his lordship saw a stirring pitching duel between Newhouser and Thornton Lee, both left-handers, a battle in which errors proved costly to the young Detroit sharpshooter. An error by Frankie Croucher in the fifth paved the way for one White Sox tally in a miscue by Rudy York, combined with Newhouser's own wildness, conspired for two more in the seventh.

With all that the Tigers struck back with three runs to tie the score at 3 all in the eighth, only to lose it in the next inning.

The Sox scored a run in the seventh when York fumbled Knickerbocker's sacrifice and Hoag scored. Tresh was picked off second, following which Appling and Kuhel walked, filling the bases. By this time Newhouser was completely in the air and also passed Wright, forcing Knickerbocker home with a run.

In the eighth Higgins singled to left, advanced to second on Tebbett's scoratch hit to ~~Knickerbocker~~ ~~to Knickerbocker~~ and then scored when McNair, batting for Newhouser, singled to center. Then McCosky singled to center, scoring Tebbetts and Mullin. York popped to Knickerbocker to end the heat.

With two down, McCosky in the fourth, scratched a single and continued on to second when Appling threw wildly to first. But York drove along fly ball the Kreevich for a third out.

There were two out when Higgins and Tebbetts walked in the fifth. However Newhouser grounded to Lee. But the Sox were luckier in thier part of the frame. With two out, Knickerbocker was safe at first on Croucher's error, stole second and then later scored when Appling singled to right.

Tiges Lose to Chisox Again, Head East

Chicago, May 12--Beaten twice by the White Sox in Chicago, a catastrophe that extended their losing streak to four games in a row, the Tiges were heading today to play two games in Washington.

Buck Newsom is scheduled to pitch for the Tigers tomorrow in the opening game of the series.

Tommy Bridges lost another of his hard luck games with Chicago 2-1 yesterday as he outpitched but did not outluck another veteran, Ted Lyons. An error by Frankie Crocher paved the way for one of the Chicago runs and the other came on a freak play in which Ned Harris made a sensational catch of a foul ball only to have the winning run score after the catch.

Harris, the recruit who replaced Hank Greenberg in left field, was both hero and goat, having exploded a home run early in the game to give the Tigers their only run.

Mike Tresh, a Detroit resident who once played with the Tigers, conspired in Bridges' defeat when in the ninth he was first up and doubled to left, over Harris' head. Lyons sacrificed him to third and then when Billy Knickerboker sent a long ball foul to the left corner of the field, Harris made a great run and a great one-handed catch. Tresh all but walked home with the big tally after the catch.

The victory gave Lyons his two hundred and thirty sixth triumph in a brilliant 19-year stretch with the White Sox. He had been ever since coming out of a Baylor University in Texas in 1923. He has been a Sox ever since.

A crowd of 9,698 saw the game, a contest played in football weather.

The game was marked by an injury to Barney McCosky, who pulled a muscle in his side running to second base. When the Tigers left Chicago it was not known how long the young outfielder would be on the sidelines.

Dick Bartell Released

Boyd Perry Recalled as Utility Infielder

Boyd Perry, Tiger farm hand infielder with the Buffalo club of the International League, will be brought up to replace Dick Bartell, who was given his release by the Detroit club yesterday.

A brilliant shortstop but weak at the bat, Perry has been in the Tiger chain system for several years. Up from the Beaumont club for the second time at Lakeland, Fla., he was one of a half dozen or more Tiger farmed out to Buffalo this Spring.

With Frankie Croucher seemingly firmly entrenched at shortstop as a result of his recent brilliant fielding and hitting, Perry will come up as a utility infielder, which means that Eric McNair becomes the stand-in for Charley Gehringer at second base. When bought from the White Sox this Spring, it was presumed that McNair was to fill in for Bartell.

"Well that's the first time I've been beaten on a foul ball," said Tommy Bridges after Sunday's game with Chicago.

Harris played the sportsmanlike game--but it was an unhappy circumstance for Bridges and the Tigers.

Hoag, recently obtained from the Browns batted two of Chicago's five hits off Bridges.

York walked three times, hit a single and struck out once. He was pretty mad about the strikeout, protesting that a third called strike was low and out side.

Gehringer celebrated his thirty-eighth birthday by going hitless in five times up.

Harris' homer was made inside the park, arived that bounded back off the right field wall in directions that upset Wright's calculations.

Campbell made spectacular one-handed catch that robbed Lyons of an extra base hit.

Come on, Bo-B0, We Can't Go on Like This

Washington, May 14--What's the matter with the Tigers?

Is it the loss of Hank Greenberg? Is it a sit down strike? Is it a war? Is it something they ate?

We don't know. All we know is that they are terrible and unless they snap out of it--and snap soon--they'll be sunk in the division to stay.

Beaten by the Washington Senators, 5-4, here yesterday they lost their fifth straight game.

Buck Newsom, for the sixth time in seven starts this season, was driven out of a game. Newsom--winner of 21 games last season--driven from the hill six times in seven games!

But even worse than Newsom's showing is the team's batting. Here are some figures on the five setbacks--the Tigers in that stretch totaled only 28 hits and only 11 runs--an average of less than six hits and two tallies a game. Pretty terrible for league champions.

If you've forgotten the Tigers are still champions, even if they don't look it.

Charley Gehringer, in 22 times at bat, hasn't bagged as much as a scrawney single. Rudy York, supposedly the Tigers' power guy banged out two hits in 15 times up.

Frankie Croucher, who started in cyclonic fashion after replacing Dick Bartell, caught the Tiger germ and quit hitting. Croucher has made only two hits in 19 times. Ned Harris, who replaced Greenberg, has banged out but two in the same number of times at bat.

It's pretty gruesome, folks.

Yesterday's triumph marked the Senators' tenth straight victory over the Tigers this year--counting seven Spring training exhibitions games. Not a pretty picture to be sure.

Sid Hudson was the Washington hero of the first of a two-game series with the Tigers here--giving up, but three hits yesterday. Bruce Campbell bagged a two-bagger and Birdie Tebbetts and Newsom each posted a single.

Three of the four Tiger tallies off Hudson were unearned.

With three hits, George Case led the Washington attack. His hits were among seven which the Senators combed off Newsom in five official innings.

With a four-run margin Newsom sailed along prettily until the fifth inning when Washington baunched four hits for three runs. Then in the sixth after had walked Cecil Travis and given Jimmy Bloodworth a single, Newsom was yanked. Al Benton took his place.

Benton might have gotten away okay had he not slipped trying to field a squeeze play bunt, which permitted Bloodworth to score with the tying run. Jake Early later crossed the plate after Harris caught George Case's fly ball in deep, left and the game was in the bag for the Senators, as later events revealed. And Benton, instead of being a hero, was charged with the loss of the contest. Vernon, in the fifth frame, tripled with the bases loaded to account for three of the Washington markers.

The Tigers scored a run in the second inning without benefit of a hit. York walked, move to second when Gehringer was hit by a pitched ball, continued on to third when Higgins sacrificed and scored when Ben Cahman caught a fly ball off Tebbetts.

Newsom's singled and Campbell's two bagged combined with errors by Hudson and Bloodworth to give the Tigers three runs in the third heat.

Sixth Straight Loss Puts Tigers in Sixth Place

Philadelphia, Pa., May 15--Battered down into sixth place in the American League standings, the bomb-scarred Tigers groped into Philadelphia plenty punch-drunk, but still cry.

The wounded don't cry.

They are here to battle the Athletics in a two-game series which gets under way this afternoon with Harold Newhouser pitching for the punchy Tigers and a fellow by the name of Lester McCrabb chucking for the A's.

The Tigers' nose dive from fifth to sixth took place as the Senators walloped them, 9 to 4, in Washington yesterday. It was the Tigers' sixth straight loss and their eight in eight starts on the road. Also, if you like your news good and gruesome, their eleventh set-back at the hands of the Washintons--if you want to count seven exhibitions games.

Johnny Gorsica was driven from the mound in the fifth inning as the Senators carried out their bombardment and the customers yelled "timber, timber."

Bud Thomas replaced Gorsica and later, when a pinch hitter was injected into the game, gave way to Archie McKain. Steve Sundra went the distance for Washington, his second win over the Tigers in as many starts.

Among 16 hits aggregated by the Senators was a 425--foot home run into the left field bleachers by Ben Chapman, his first of the season. Jimmy Bloodworth and George Case got three safeties each.

With two runs each in the first inning, the Tigers and Senators lost no time in whipping into action. There was one out when Mullin and Campbell later scored on a single by York. After Gehringer walked, Higgins lined to Bloodworth and York was doubled off second.

There was one down when Cramer, in the home half of the opening frame, singled to left. Cramer was forced at second when Vernon grounded to Gehringer. Then came three singled in a row by Lewis, Travis, and Bloodworth. Resulting in two runs.

The Tigers seized the lead with a run in the fourth. After Gehringer was retired on Bloodworth's fine, stop, Higgins tripled down the left field line. Cramer robbed Tebbetts of a hit with a one-handed shoestring catch, Higgins scoring on the play.

The Tigers' joy was short-lived, as the Senators tossed the contest into another tie with another marker in their half of the fourth, when with two out, Case doubled and scored on a single by Cramer.

A combination of errors and Tiger misplays rolled up five runs for the Washington in the fifth. First up, Lewis was safe on a boot by Gehringer and went to second when Travis singled. Bloodworth also singled. On the play, Mullin tried to throw the ball, it hit on the player's leg and Travis scored on the error. Then Chapman came through with his homer, scoring Bloodworth ahead of him.

At this juncture, Thomas replaced Gorsica. Early, first to face the new tiger flinger, was given life at first on an error by Croucher and after Sundra sacrificed, Case beat out a grounder to Croucher for a single. Cramer popped out, Vernon came through with a single, scoring Early. Then Lewis forced Vernon to end the outrageous inning.

Batting for Thomas in the seventh, Stainback singled, and Harris followed with a hit of like proportions, but these were only gestures. The Tigers didn't score.

In the ninth, with two down, Harris singled and later scored on a single by Campbell, Bruce's third hit of a afternoon.

Young Mr. Newhouser Brightens Sad Pictures

Tigers Take Day Off to Beat A's, 10-2

Philadelphia, May 16--There was a suspicion here today that Harold Newhouser may be going places this year even if the Tigers decided not to do so. The 19-year old Newhouser--he will be 20 come Tuesday--has won three games against one defeat for a rather respectable start in the still young season.

Newhouser hung up his third triumph yesterday when the erratic Tigers took a day off and won a ball game, romping over the A's 10 to 2, in the first of three games to be played here by Saturday night.

By their win, the Tigers broke a losing streak that had reached an even half dozen games and climbed back into fifth place as Washington succumbed to the Browns.

To fashion their first victory in nine games on the road, the Tigers laid it on pretty thick--piling up a grand total of 18 safeties in their boisterous matinee. Among the hits was a home run by Birdie Tebbetts, that young man's second of the year. It was exploded into the left field stands with one runner on base.

But Tebbetts was not the only Tiger slugger. Pat Mullin, recruit up from Buffalo, went berserk with four hits. They came in succession and dramatically, after the Grindstone, Pa., Irishman had struck out on his first two appearances at the plate. One of the quartet was a triple and another a two-bagger.

Bruce Campbell and Ned Harris poled three hits each, Campbell including a triple among his trio. A two-bagger was among Ned's hits.. In all, the Tigers plattered an even half dozen safeties among the harrassed Philadelphia outfielders.

Phil Marchildon, a young French-Canadian from the shores of Georgian Bay, pitched seven innings for the Athletics, giving up 11 of the Tigers hits and six of their tallies. After Phil was lifted-for a pinch hitter a chap by the name of Chalmer Luman Harris took over. Harris gave up seven blows in two frames, one of them Tebbetts' circuit drive.

With a single by Bob Johnson in the first inning, Newhouser was sailing along to what appeared a probable one-hitter when he ran into trouble in the sixth. With one out, Johnson in that heat hit another single. Then Johnson reached second when Dick Siebert walked and went to third on a single by Sammy Chapman. From third, Johnson came home with the first Philadelphia marker after Harris had caught Frankie Hayes' drive to left field.

With a shutout made impossible, Newhouser after that eased off and the A's bunched three hits and scored another run in the ninth. First up, Hayes doubled, the only extra base hit of the day off the young Tiger flinger. Hayes later scored on a single by Al Brancato. After Al Simmons, pinch hitting, fouled out, Pete Suder laced a single to center, but Wally Moses into a double play and the game was over.

Rowe Makes 1st Start in 10 Days

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16--Schoolboy Rowe will pitch for the Tigers against the Athletics here today in the second of a series of three games.

Out with a sore throat, the Schoolboy will make his first mound appearance in 10 days. Prior to that, Rowe licked the Athletics in a contest in which he allowed but seven singles and one run.

Bill Beackman is scheduled to hurl for ~~the~~ the A's.

Rip Radcliff, bought from the Browns, will be in left field for the Tigers today. The new Tiger reported late yesterday.

Benny McCoy, former Tiger now with the Athletics, is awaiting word from a Grand Rapids, Mich., draft board on his appeal from a draft call. McCoy plea is based on support of four persons in the McCoy family.

Tommy Bridges is due to pitch for the Tigers here Saturday, "Connie Mack Day", and Buck Newsom against the Red Sox in Boston Sunday.

Trout, Mullin Stand Out as Tigers Beat "A's" Again

2 Wins Only Ones Away From Home for Detroiters

Philadelphia, May 17--Paul (Dizzy) Trout and Pat Mullins, shared honors here today as the Tigers looked back on a winning streak of two games, an achievement on the road for Del Baker's hapless hombres.

In fact, the only games the Tigers have won away from Briggs Stadium this season thus far were those from the Athletics here at Shibe Park the last couple of days.

To fashion the second half of this blazing sweep, the Tigers yesterday beat the Athletics, 5 to 4, in a see-saw battle in which Trout and Mullin were the outstanding heroes.

Trout won his first game of the season, holding the Athletics in check with splendid pitching after replacing Schoolboy Rowe in the fifth inning. In four and one-third innings Trout yielded but one hit, a single to Sammy Chapman as he turned back the home guards and ably protected a lead which Mullin had given the Detroit Club in the sixth when he hit a home run with Ned Harris on base.

It was Mullins' first homer of the season, and as far as we know, his initial four-bagger in the big leagues. It was a drive of nearly 400 feet against the right-center field fence, the Pennsylvania Irishman's fleet feet propelling him around the circuit before panicky Mackmen could get the ball to the plate. When they did get the ball home, it was too late, of course.

Harris had singled, the young outfielders second hit of the day and fourth in two days. Mullin's homer gave Pat five safeties for the two games.

Bill Beckman hurled six frames for the Mackmen and it was off his delivery that Mullin bagged the fourply blow. Tom Ferrick hurled the last three heats for Philadelphia.

It was one of those see-saw battles in which the Tigers, with a run in the first inning, drew first blood. First up, Harris tripled to center, and after Mullin, fouled out, scored after Chapman's catch of Campbell's fly ball to deep center.

The Tigers scored another marker in the second in much the same manner. Gehringer led off with a single to right, moved around to third on McNair's single to the left side of the field and later scored after Chapman snared Sullivan's drive.

The Athletics retrieved one of the markers when Johnson, in the home half of the second doubled to center and later scored as Chapman laced a single to center.

In the fourth, Campbell tripled and later scored after Moses caught Gehringers' foul fly.

But, in their half of the fourth the A's struck back with two markers

First up, Moses hit a three-bagger and after McCoy fouled out and Johnson walked, scored when Siebert singled. Later Hayes singled, scoring Johnson. Thus the score was deadlocked.

The A's picked up another in the fifth, taking the lead. Beckman singled and Suder sacrificed. Then Moses forced Beckman, York to McNain, but Moses later scored on McCoy's long double. At this juncture Trout was rushing in to the rescue. Diz forced Johnson to ground weakly to Gehringer and end the rally.

From then on Diz was in the driver's seat. An error by York and a couple of walks had him a bit skittish in the seventh but with the chips on the line, Diz again disposed of the heavy-hitting Johnson for a third out.

Mullin and Harris had, of course, in the sixth put the game on ice for the Tigers.

A crowd of less than, 2,000 saw the game. The Philadelphians were saving their money for today's "Connie Mack Day."

Bridges Gives Detroit Sweep In Series of 3

Philadelphia, May 17--The 10 world and league championship pennants draped across the fences here today in honor of Connie Mack Day meant nothing to the Athletics in today's game.

With Rudy York exploding his seventh home run and other Tigers blasting out timely hits, the Tigers licked the Athletics, 8 to 5.

By their victory, the Tigers made a clean sweep of the three-game series here and moved up into fourth place in the league standings as the Yankees succumbed to the White Sox.

To date, the Tigers have captured all five contests played with the A's this season, having grabbed a couple in Detroit recently.

A surprisingly small crowd of 12,360 paid customers turned out to honor Connie Mack, but what the event lacked in numbers it made up in enthusiasms for the venerable old Philadelphia baseball man.

Tommy Bridges pitched for the Tigers and posted his fourth victory of the season against two defeats. He yielded nine hits, two of which were homers by Benny McCoy and Sammy Chapman.

Jack Knott hurled seven and two-third innings. For seven innings Knott hurled ~~with~~ with Bridges in a see-saw battle, but he went to pieces in the eighth, being replaced by Nelson Potter.

Besides York, who bagged a single in addition to his homer, the Tiger hitting heroes were Frankie Croucher, who collected three hits, and Pat Mullin and Birdie Tebbetts, who posted two each. Croucher's blows included a triple and a double.

With two runs each, the Tigers and Athletics, in the second inning, went to work in earnest, after an uneven first inning. First up for the Tigers, York walked. Knott settled enough to make Gehringer and McNair fly out to Chapman, but after Tebbetts singled, Croucher drove a three-bagger against the right field fence, scoring both York and Tebbetts.

This sudden turn of events rattled Knott and the Philadelphia flinger walked both Bridges and Harris, filling the bases. Mullin wasn't equal to another hit, at least so soon in the game, and grounded out.

There was one out when Siebert, in the Philadelphia half of the second, singled and scored when Chapman tripled. Chapman later scored as Croucher tossed out Hayes on a grounded to deep short. York made a spectacular one-handed catch of Croucher's wide throw, stretching far to make the play.

The two-all deadlock was smashed when the A's scored a run in the fourth. With one away, Siebert smacked a three-bagger to right. Then, after Chapman struck out, the Philadelphia first-baseman scored as Hayes singled off Croucher's shoetops. When Brancato singled and Knott walked, the bases were loaded. But Bridges steadied and forced Suder to ground weakly to the box.

McCoy's homer in the fifth boosted the A's lead to two tallies, one of which the Tigers retrieved in the sixth when McNair walked, went to second on a single by Tebbetts and scored when Croucher hit into a double play.

With one away, Mullin, the the seventh, banged a two-bagger off the right field, wall, but was nabbed trying to stretch the hit into a triple.

With his four-base drive, York opened the Tiger half of the ~~xxxxxx~~ eighth auspiciously. And, after Gehringer flew out to the outfield, McNair got a two-base hit as a gift when Johnson and Chapman got confused in their outfield boundaries, Johnson dropping Eric's fly ball after Chappy crossed in front of him.

By this time Knott was pretty shaky and walked Tebbetts. Then came a two-bagger by Croucher down the left field foul line, on which McNair and Tebbetts scored. Bridges fanned, but Harris singled, scoring Croucher and Potter replaced Knott on the hill for the Athletics.

After Harris took second, Mullin singled to center and he scored. It all ended when Campbell flied to Johnson.

There were two out when Chapman got his four-ply blow in the eighth.

With two out, Moses in the ninth got an infield single and moved to second and third with out a play being made on him, but McCoy struck out ending the game.

Tigers Capitalize on Red Sox's Errors, Win 6-5 in 11

Taking full advantage of errors by Sammy Hale and Joe Cronin the Tigers defeated the Red Sox's 6-5 in 11 innings.

These errors spoiled what was otherwise a happy day for Dick Newsome who relieved Grove in the 8th. Benton relieved Newsom in the seventh and scored his second triumph.

Mullin gave Hale and Cronin their chance by singling to center. Campbell walked and York hit to Tabor who threw to second forcing Bruce, but Hale trying for a double play threw the ball in the Sox dugout, Mullin scoring and York going to second. Then Gehringer grounded to Cronin who fumbled scoring York.

The Sox's rallied in the 11th but fell short a run. Williams walked, but Cronin hit into a double play Croucher, Gehringer to York. Foxx hit a three two pitch into the left field bleachers for a home run. Tabor hit a double to left but was left when Hale fanned.

The Tigers got a run in the first on a single by Mullin, a walk to Harris, and Campbell's infield hit. York popped, and Gehringer scored Harris grounding to Foxx.

They scored two more in the second on triples by Tebbetts and Croucher and Harris fly to center.

They took a 4-0 lead in the seventh when Mullin singled and York doubled after two were out.

In the seventh for Boston things began to happen. Williams singled. Cronin hit into a double play. Foxx singled. Tabor hit a home run scoring behind Foxx. Hale and Peacock singled and Spence batting for Grove walked filling the bases. DiMaggio singled scoring Peacock and Hale tying the score and bringing in Benton.

Benton pitched masterful ball as well as Dick Newsome in relief duties.
